U. S. 50 TRAVEL SHOWS GAIN

One Out Of Three Westbound Cars Diverted Over Pony Express Route

ELY, Nev.—Although the national tourist travel is lower this year than last, travel over the Lincoln highway has increased, according to a preliminary report of the traffic count by C. C. Boyer, local division engineer of the state highway department.

A year ago the count showed about one out of every five cars traveling the Lincoln highway from the traffic checking station at the junction of the Lincoln and Victory highways, the count, made for 16 hours a day, 6:00 a. m. to 10:00 p. m. each day from July 10 through July 16, showed this year that one out of three cars using the Lincoln highway.

The average number of cars per day counted was 487 for the Victory highway and 243 for the Lincoln highway. Eighty per cent of the cars carried foreign licenses.

Other counts showed 850 cars daily between Ely and McGill, 110 cars daily over the Ely-Ruth road of which an average of 125 continued on U. S. highway No. 6 toward Tonopah each day.

A complete report of the traffic census will be released later by the highway department.

Injuries Fatal For Ross Hayes

Man Hurt On Wednesday Is Claimed Saturday; Rites On Tuesday Afternoon

The funeral services for Ross Hayes, 20, of Diamond Springs, who died Saturday at Mercy Hospital, Sacramento, of injuries received in an accident last Wednesday at the mill of the California Cedar Products Company, will be held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon from Memory Chapel.

Rev. John Dunlop will have charge. Burial will be at Union Cemetery.

Mr. Hayes was employed as a setter at the mill and, according to friends, was engaged in demonstrating and explaining the operation of the equipment to another workman so that he might learn to do the work.

The setter gave a sudden lurch which threw Hayes to the ground and before he could get out of the way, he was caught under the machine. He suffered fractures of the right leg and internal injuries.

He was removed from the mill directly to Sacramento for treatment.

Mr. Hayes was a native of the Green Valley district and is survived by his father and mother and by one brother, Jack Hayes, and one half-brother, Oliver Mann, and one-half sister, Mrs. Willis, all of Diamond Springs.

'Phone 68-W For Transportation To Polling Place

Voters of Placerville, Coon Hollow and Cold Springs school districts who may require transportation to the polls to enable them to cast their vote in the special high school district bond election Tuesday, may obtain that service if they will telephone 68-W after one o'clock.

County high school district officials announced Monday morning that arrangements have been made to have a number of cars available to provide transportation for those who require it to the polling place at the War Veterans' Memorial Building.

"MINERS" EARN $50 IN ENTIRE YEAR

Dust Bowl Refugees Flock To Mother Lode; Some Become Clients Of State Relief

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—California is undergoing a new gold rush, and one that is causing considerable grief to the state and also to the "rushes."

With occasional small nuggets and flakes of gold still being found in the Mother Lode country of the good old days of '49, families from the dust bowl, especially from Missouri, Arkansas and Oklahoma, are flocking to the former gold fields of California in the hopes either of making a "strike" or at least eking out an existence.

The final result is nearly always the same, either they have to go back home or on relief rolls. It is the latter fact that is troubling California.

The reasons for this, state authorities declare, are simple: In the first place, enough gold seldom is found to make a semblance of a living even for the old timers who still prospect, and secondly, farmers from the Middle West not only lack all practical experience for such work but are unable to live on the small amount of money that the old miners of years and years of experience take out of the ground.

According to the State Division of Mines the average annual income for present day gold prospectors in California who have spent almost a lifetime in the "diggins" sometimes only averages around $50.

On the other hand, it is admitted that some of these old prospectors who are experts at gold mining and prospecting sometimes make $1 to $150 a day.

The derelict families coming from the dust bowl are necessarily obliged to work on mining properties that are still owned by mining concerns and which ordinarily would make it necessary for them to obtain a concession or permit. As a rule this is never exacted because the companies are not interested. (Continued on page 3)

Mountain Quarries Man Taken On Saturday

Manuel Llama, who had been blacksmith at Mountain Quarries since 1910, collapsed and died at his work Saturday morning. Following a formal investigation conducted on the spot by Coroner A. J. Orelli, the body was removed in the care of the Hislop mortuary at Auburn to San Francisco, where Mr. Llama's family resides. Funeral services and interment will be at that place. Mr. Llama was a good workman and is spoken of very highly by his employers and his co-workers. He was a native of Spain.

Earl Whitfield, a world war veteran of this county, who has been a resident of Diamond Springs for the past two years, will go to Fort Miles Veterans' Hospital in San Francisco Tuesday morning following arrangements for his entrance into the institution by the service committee of the local American Legion Post. For the past three weeks Mr. Whitfield has been receiving treatment at the Placerville Sanatorium, through generous arrangements by the doctors in charge.

Mrs. Jessie Stevens was a visitor at Sacramento on Monday.

Polls Open At One O'Clock, Close At Seven O'Clock For Balloting On Bond Issue To Add New Units To Relieve High School Overcrowding

The high school board Monday morning received official word of the approval of their PWA grant application in the form of a formal offer on behalf of the government, signed by H. A. Gray, acting PWA supervisor, to make a grant of $77,781 toward the school enlargement project. Conditions of the offer are that it must be accepted or rejected within fifteen days, and that construction must start within eight weeks and be completed within one year from the date of start of construction.

The school officials pointed out that the clause making acceptance of the grant necessary within 15 days is important, in that it means that if the high school's bond election tomorrow fails to carry, it will be impossible to call another election within fifteen days and the offer of the grant will therefore be lost.

The offer is a grant, an outright gift to the county high school district.

The board will meet for action on the offer when the results of Tuesday's election are known.

Tuesday afternoon at one o'clock at nineteen designated polling places in the county, voting begins in a special election called by the governing board of the high school on the question of issuing bonds in the amount of $95,000 to provide funds for needed enlargement of the school building.

Polls remain open until seven o'clock in the evening.

Placerville voting precincts are consolidated into one for the purposes of this election and with the voters of Coon Hollow and Cold Springs school districts will cast their votes at the War Veterans Memorial Building on Main Street.

300 Pollywogs Get Royal Works Of King Neptune

ABOARD THE U. S. S. HOUSTON AT GALAPAGOS, (Via Naval Radio to United Press)—President Roosevelt and his fellow shellbacks had a wholesale hilarious time today as 300 pollywogs got the royal works at a wholesale initiation in celebration of their first crossing of the equator.

Initiates included members of the presidential party and members of the crew of the Houston and its escort ship, the U. S. S. McDougal.

They ran a gauntlet between ranks of armed members of King Neptune's police force; they were treated by the royal doctor, spread upon the royal operating table, tossed into the bears and to the mercy of shellbacks in a big canvas tank.

They were put in the brig or in stocks or in irons and they kissed Neptune's royal baby.

When it was all over, King Neptune very graciously welcomed the pollywogs as full fledged shellbacks and as members of the mystic realm of the deep and of the royal court of the raging main.

RADIO ADVERTISING TO START THURSDAY ON SEVEN STATE STATIONS

An eleven-week radio advertising program over seven California stations of the Mutual network, intended to boost travel over U. S. Route 50 to Placerville and Lake Tahoe, starts on Thursday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock, according to Llayd Cannon, chairman of the committee in charge.

At the recent meeting of the chamber of commerce at Lake Valley, the chamber joined with the Lake Valley unit of a travelogue, written by a radio writer who formerly wrote the script for "Death Valley Days."

Each weekly installment, according to Cannon, will consist of from 300 to 500 words.

The travelogue form of advertising to stimulate travel has been tried by the Stockton Chamber of Commerce and, according to Mr. Cannon, has been found to be very effective. With Cannon on the committee are E. E. Van Harlingen, of Placerville, and Ralph King, of Echo Lakes.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Longhurst and their daughter, Mrs. Vernon Hirst, of Roseville were visitors at the Lake Audrain Scout Camp Sunday. Following the trip Mrs. Hirst was met by her husband, who had come to Placerville with the Roseville ball club. They returned to their home in Roseville.

ASTRONOMICAL FIGURES

Probably the biggest news of the day is that tomorrow, Tuesday, is the day of high school district bond election.

Word came this morning that Uncle Sam is ready and willing to supply his share of the cost of the project (45 per cent) as an outright gift to the district, providing his conditions are met.

His conditions are that we must dig up the other 55 per cent of the project, which is what the bond election is for, and that we've got to let him know within fifteen days whether it's a deal or not. If we accept the offer, then we've got to start work within eight weeks and finish up within a year.

If the bonds are passed, the high school board will go ahead with a two-unit addition to the high school, which will cost complete about $95,000. The board has pledged itself that it will not sell all of the bonds, but will only sell enough of the bonds, if voted, to supply the county's 55 per cent of the cost of the $95,000 project.

At an election on the plan held on June 17, only 12 per cent of the electors cast their ballots and everybody hopes that more of the voters go to the polls tomorrow.

Dr. A. L. White returned to his offices Monday morning just four months to the day since he was forced to remain at home as a result of a foot infection.

The doctor's dental patients will be glad to know that he is again on duty, and his many other friends will also be glad to note his return to work.

Young Brothers reported Sunday that their Saturday night crowd at Bal-Bijou was the second largest of the season, and traffic at the lake Sunday indicated that other points must have their share of visitors, too. Driving past the El Dorado County Beach, we counted six cars with Nevada licenses parked in the strip of highway and the beach and had a notion to get out and tell 'em to "shinny on their own side."

Must have been a scavenger hunt or sump'n going on up the road Sunday, for every once in a while you'd meet a stalled car with the driver out looking for something under the hood.

If the old residents were as keen to shake hands with newcomers and make them feel contented in the home town, as the politicians are to shake hands with the voters, observes an exchange, the home towns would get elected of-ten-er to prosperity.

ed in the small amount of gold these newcomers might find. In the second place it does enable a few to make a part of their living and decrease that much of the relief expenditure.

Mariposa now is one of the favorite "gold fields" for the dust bowl families. In fact, one section of it is so thickly populated that it has been dubbed "Arkansas Flat."

For the most part these migrants work in the creek beds where occasionally a gold flake is turned up. Fortunately, authorities say, a brief trial is sufficient to make them realize the futility of it, and then they usually try to get back to their old homes.

At least, the ones from Arkansas and Oklahoma do. Those from Missouri remain the longest and are faithful to the adage of having "to be shown" before they are convinced that the Mother Lode country never again will yield riches.

Most of the trouble, authorities say, is due to the fact that some one told the migrants that they could mine $20 worth of gold a day by working over the old streams and gold beds.

Nevertheless, it is admitted that a few of the migrants stick it out and sometimes succeed in making $1 a day. Even they, however, cannot live as cheaply as the old time prospectors, most of whom are unmarried, and have been mining for years.

One of the reasons why many stay and try to live on the $1 a day they make—when they make it—is because they love the outdoors.

To date, none of the migrants has succeeded in hitting a real "strike," such as a fair sized nugget worth $2 or $3 as occasionally happens to old time prospectors.

PARADE OF SPORTS

By HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Writer)

NEW YORK, (U.P.)—I know this will brand me as a hectic of the first, second, and even the third waters, but I feel obliged to say today that of all the things that bore me in baseball, nothing bores me so much as Lou Gehrig's feat of playing 242 consecutive games for the Yankees.

The fact that Gehrig has not missed a league game since that afternoon of June 1, 1925, when he replaced Wally Pipp at first base, leaves me cold and I find the counting of the games he has played a much better means of wooing sleep than the counting of sheep.

To come right and say so I consider Gehrig's insistence on playing even when he has fractured bones (such as he now has), concussions, fever and the all-around miseries, as abnormal and none too flattering. Usually it is the dumb or the desperate who continue to carry on while in pain. The human thing (to do when you're hurt) is to take it easy, not pull out all the stops marked "heroic." This is especially true when all your heroics will get you is a gold watch and the sobriquet "iron horse."

Granting that Gehrig's refusal to give in and miss a game when he is injured is good for his scrap book and ego, I wonder if it is good for his team? There have been times, when Lou was younger and better, when he was a better first baseman injured than anyone who could have been put in to replace him. But I doubt if that is true today. He knocked but one ball out of the infield against the Indians in the crucial game Monday, and it was plain that he was favoring his badly swollen thumb.

Suppose a manager found himself with a team composed entirely of men protecting a consecutive game streak? Picture a team where the catcher had a cracked wrist but insisted on going behind the plate, and the pitcher demanded his right to work, fractured skull or no fractured skull; a team where the short-stop hobbled about with a sprained ankle, the second baseman with pneumonia, the third baseman with beri-beri, and the outfield with advances cases of chestnut blight.

It wouldn't take the supporters of such a team long to cease admiring such foolish gameness and demand that its players be replaced by able-bodied workmen. Yet such a team is entirely possible. In this country all men are free and equal and if one man can stay at a position until he drops, so can all the others.

Unless Gehrig relents before too many more years have passed and goes to the bench the rules of baseball

Swim Tournament Thursday At Municipal Plunge

Second In Series Of Special Events Announced By Recreational Project Director; Contestants May File Entries Before Wednesday Evening

Another swim tournament for contestants in various classes will be held Thursday night of this week, it is announced by Walter C. Dooley, director of the federal recreation project.

Dooley states there will be races for class A, B and C swimmers as well as in the unlimited division, with exhibition diving, and that the events will state at 7 o'clock.

Those who wish to take part in the Thursday evening events should file their entries with Kenneth Ward, at-should be hanged. The present set-up makes no allowance for a wheel-chair at first base, or a crutch. And it won't be very long before Gehrig will have to employ one or the other. The Yankees should have a ground rule whereby a fly ball dropping in Gehrig's wheel chair, or a liner ricocheting off his crutch or shawl, would be good for no more than two bases. And there should be a rule stating whether Gehrig's foot or the wheel of the chair must touch first base to constitute an out.

on which they are to be played. In the meantime the Folsom and Auburn teams will remain idle as each has clinched a place in the championship playoff series which cannot start until one of the four clubs tied for third place has been eliminated.

One of the best crowds of the year turned out Sunday afternoon to give the Bartletts backing in their bid for eligibility in the play-off series but Roseville's Mr. Osella set the home boys down with one hit while the visitors touched "Dummy" Land and Neeley, who replaced him in the seventh, for a total of twelve hits.

Facts in connection with the election are:

The proposal is to authorize bonds in the amount of $95,000.

The school board has given its pledge that only enough of the bonds will be sold to pay the district's share (55 per cent) of an approximate $95,000 total cost of construction.

The district has made application for a PWA grant to assist in the project and has received unofficial word from various sources that the application has been approved.

The construction at the school as proposed will provide additional gymnasium facilities supplementing the present facilities which are inadequate; (School officials point out that the state law requires all pupils to take a physical education course unless excused by a physician's recommendation), and,

A new wing housing five additional class rooms and a cafeteria. In this connection, the school board points out that the state law declares adequate lunch room facilities shall be provided and the school now has none, although more than 60 per cent of the enrollment is transported and therefore brings its lunch or purchases its lunch.

The cafeteria would be used as such during the dinner hour, and would be available at other times during the day for class room purposes.
